A NOTE ON THE PIECES

Every Stenah piece in this lookbook is a real design, somewhere on its journey from drawing to finished piece. Some are in development, some are being sampled, and others are already in production. Where a piece is still in the workshop, it is shown in a digitally staged rendering.

DESIGNED BY STENAH · DIGITALLY STAGED

The

Why

We believe the pieces we live with should mean something.

They should carry the fingerprints of the artisans who built them, the vision of the designer who imagined them, and the stories of the homes they become part of.

Stenah was created to connect exceptional designers with skilled artisans, making it possible to bring furniture, rugs, lighting, and hardware to life through craftsmanship, intention, and timeless design.

We don't build collections for designers—we build them with designers, placing their name, vision, and voice at the center of every piece.

The

Missing Piece

Interior designers shape the way people live.

They spend years refining their point of view, building trust with clients, and creating beautiful spaces.

Yet when the project is complete, the pieces that define the room belong to someone else's brand.

Their vision becomes another company's product.

Their influence builds another company's legacy.

The people creating exceptional interiors rarely have the opportunity to create collections of their own.

Our

Answer

Stenah brings together exceptional designers and skilled artisans to create furniture, rugs, lighting, and hardware with purpose.

We provide the manufacturing expertise, artisan relationships here in the U.S. and abroad, and infrastructure that allow designers to transform their ideas into enduring collections—without sacrificing creative control.

Every piece is thoughtfully crafted in limited quantities, carrying the designer's vision, the artisan's skill, and a story that continues long after it leaves the workshop.

Because when design and craftsmanship are equally celebrated, furniture becomes more than functional.

It becomes collectible.

The

Artisan

Behind every Stenah collection are skilled artisans, each bringing their own expertise, techniques, and traditions to the pieces they create.

These are not production lines.

They are woodworkers, carvers, upholsterers, metalworkers and finishers, and the dyers and weavers who hand-knot our rugs. They dedicate their careers to mastering techniques that cannot be replicated by machines.

Every curve is shaped by hand.
Every carving carries the mark of its maker.
Every finish is applied with patience and intention.
Every rug is hand-knotted, one knot at a time.

When you bring home a Stenah piece, you're bringing home the work of people whose craftsmanship deserves to be seen, valued, and preserved.

The

Designer

Every designer sees the world differently.

A curve inspired by a favorite destination.
A finish that recalls generations of craftsmanship.
A silhouette shaped by years of experience.

These ideas deserve more than a single custom installation.

They deserve to become lasting collections.

Stenah gives designers the opportunity to transform their vision into collections that carry their name, reflect their design philosophy, and can be collected for years to come.

How Stenah Works

Stenah manages the journey from concept to delivery, giving designers more time to focus on what they do best: designing.

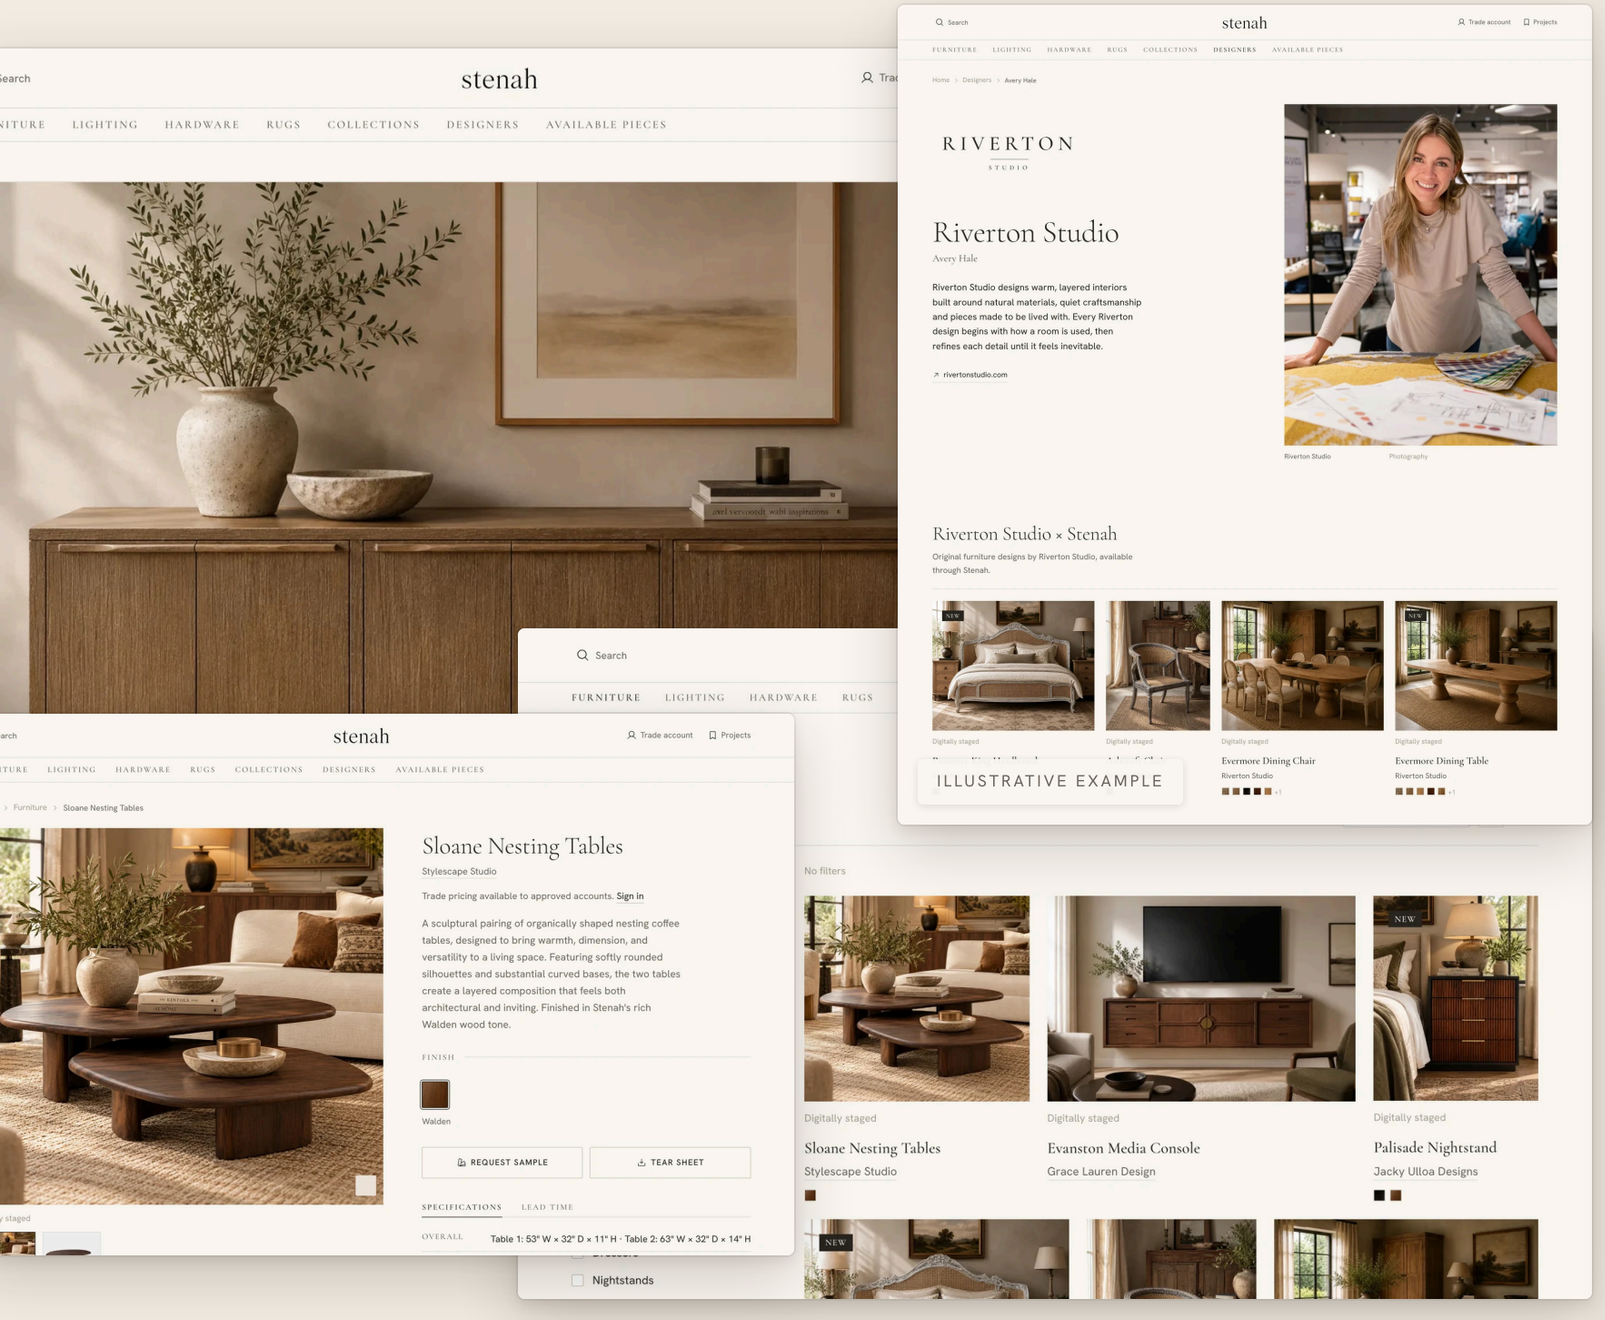
01	DESIGN	The designer creates the original concept.
02	DEVELOP	Stenah develops, engineers and prototypes the design.
03	FIRST PIECE	Our artisans craft the first finished piece. The designer purchases it, and it's theirs: for a project, for a client, or to keep.
04	COLLECTION	The design joins the Stenah collection for the trade.
05	ORDER	Trade members place orders.
06	DELIVERY	Each piece is made to order and shipped to its designated receiver.

When a design joins the Stenah collection, it becomes available to other trade members. Each time that piece sells, the designer who created it earns a share of the sale.

Stenah manages the infrastructure between inspiration and delivery.

Discover Stenah

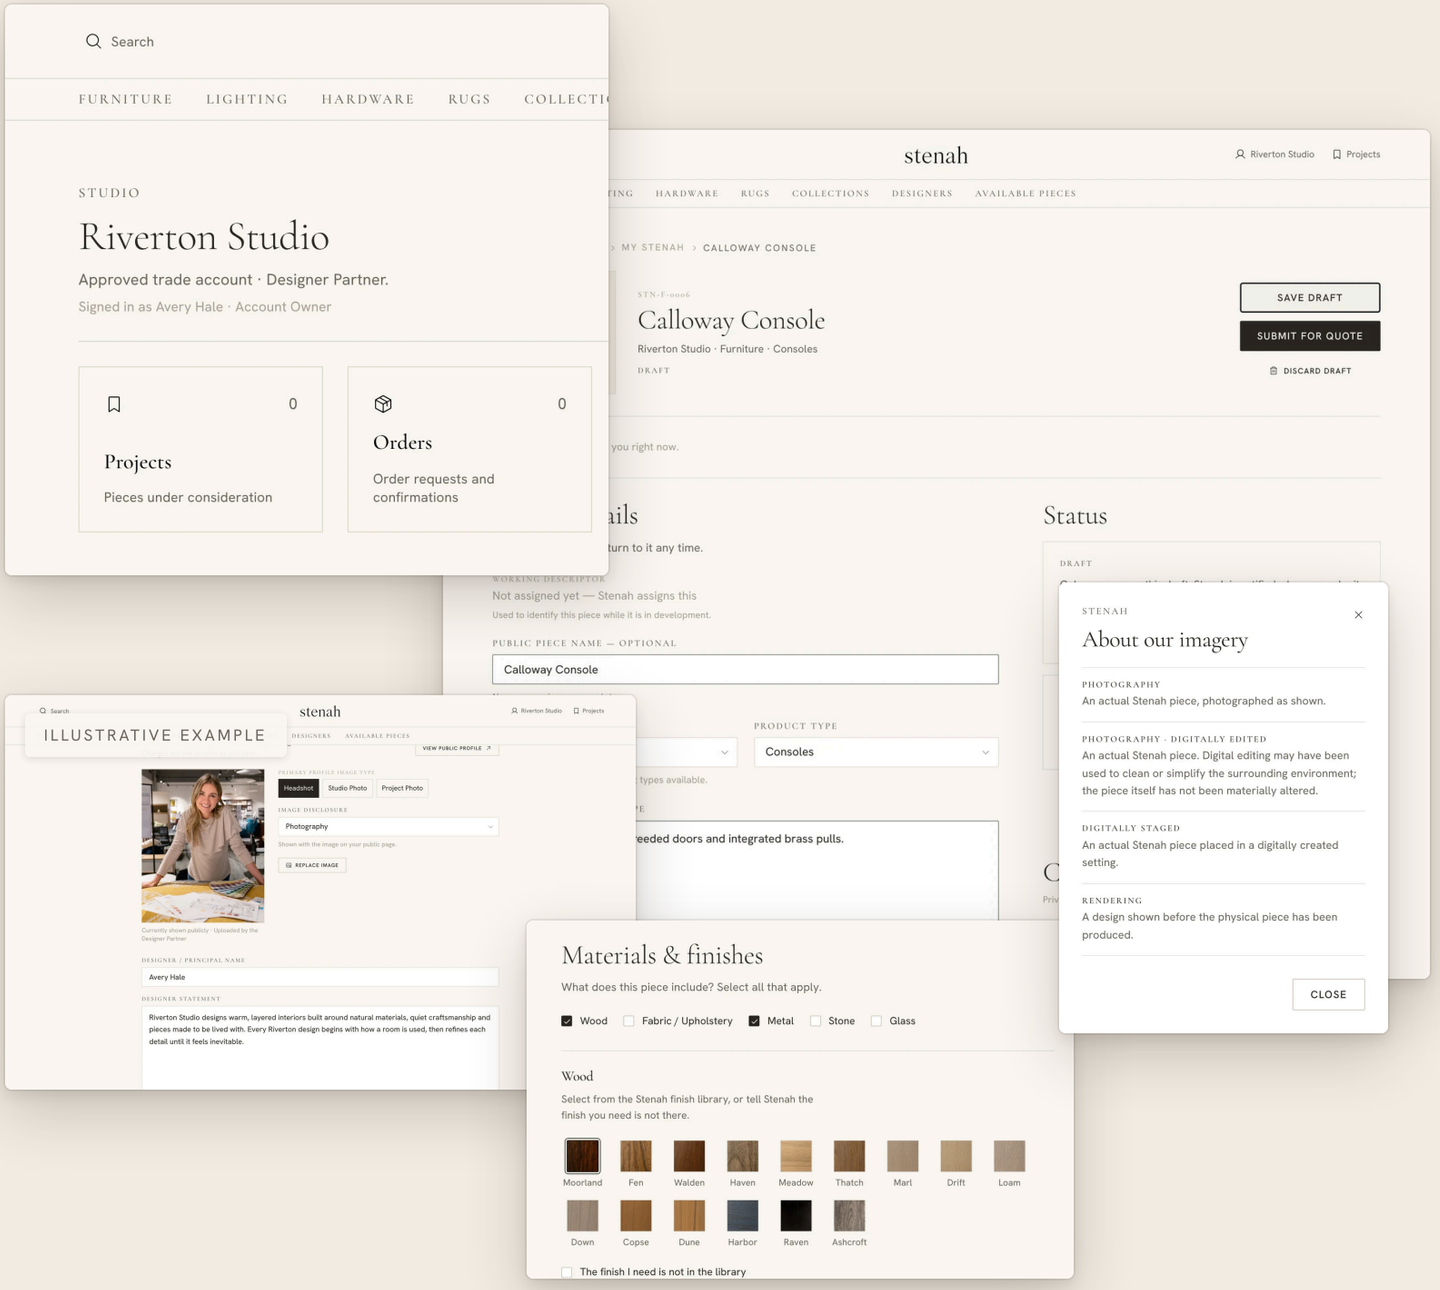
Every Stenah design lives on the Stenah platform: in a catalogue built for the trade, on its own product page, and on a branded page for the designer who created it.



FOR DESIGNER PARTNERS

Design with Stenah

Behind every collection is a workspace built for designers: begin a new piece, choose finishes from the Stenah library, share sketches and references, and present your work with clearly labeled imagery.



Look how far we've come...

Stenah started with an idea, a love for furniture, and a belief that interior designers should have the opportunity to create collections of their own.

It started with a designer willing to take a chance on that idea, one manufacturing partner overseas, and a whole lot of figuring things out along the way.

And then something happened. It started to grow.

Today, we've grown from one manufacturing partner to five, with relationships here in the United States and abroad. What began with furniture has expanded to include custom rugs, lighting, and hardware. And what started with one designer has grown into a community of creative partners, each bringing their own perspective and ideas to the table.

We're still building. Still learning. And there is so much more ahead.

But looking at the pieces on the following pages, it's pretty incredible to see how an idea has started turning into something real.

Every piece represents a designer's vision, a manufacturing partnership, and another step forward for Stenah.

Some are in development, some are being sampled, and others are already in production. The images include digitally staged photography of actual pieces as well as digitally staged renderings.

To the designers who have taken a chance on Stenah: Thank you. You're not just creating furniture and collections. You're helping build something that didn't exist before.

And we're just getting started.

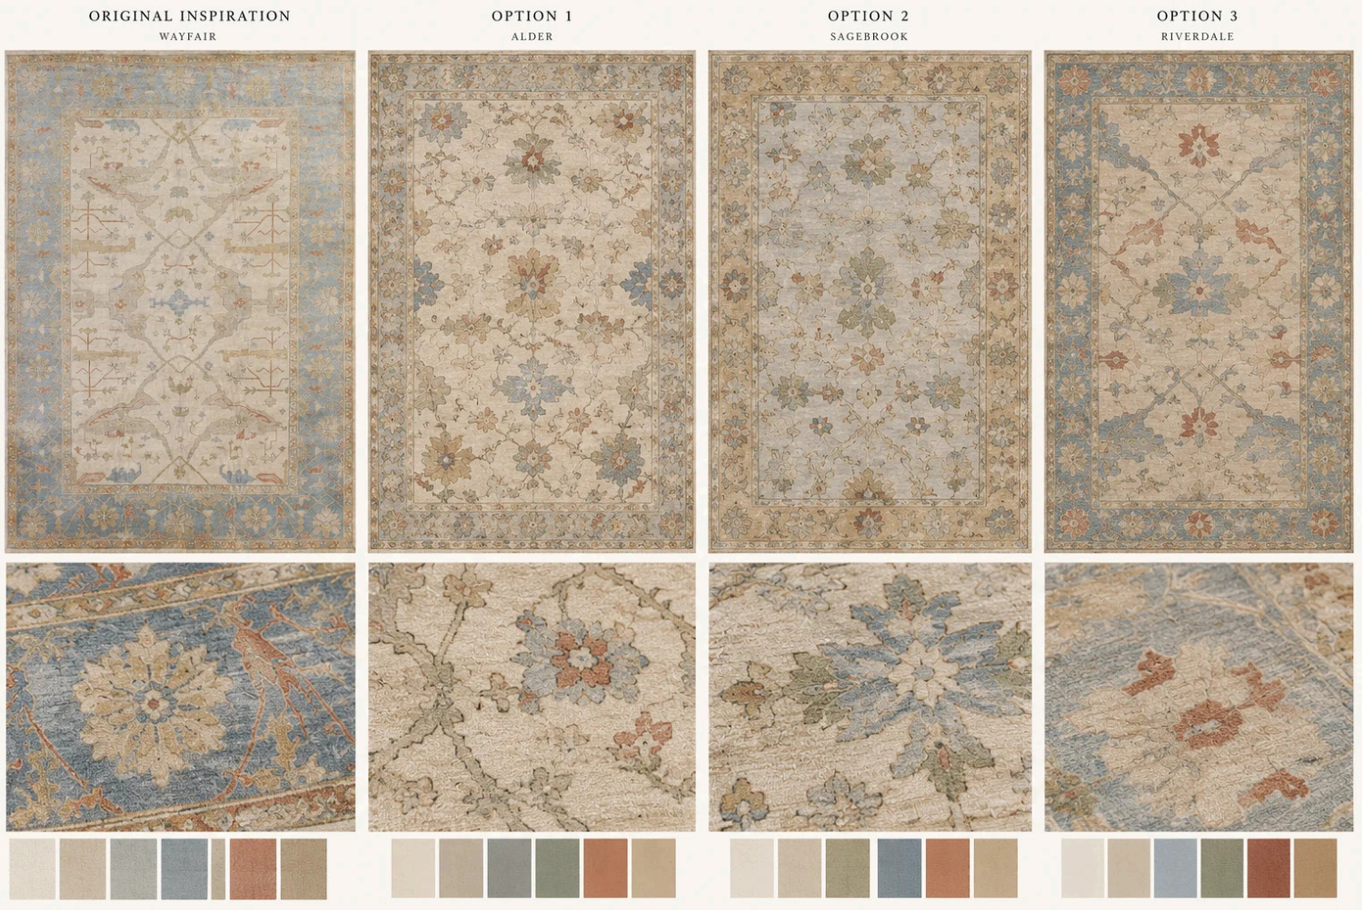
Beyond Furniture

Exploring Hardware, Rugs & Lighting

Our manufacturing partners bring years of experience creating custom rugs and lighting. These images showcase examples of their previous work and the craftsmanship, materials, and techniques available to Stenah's design partners. Alongside them, Stenah's own hardware is in development.



Rug and lighting images represent previous work by our manufacturing partners, not Stenah collections.
